Your name badge provides identification for your admission to the scientific sessions as well as to the coffee breaks and exhibitions. Please wear it at all times in CNCC.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Volunteer

There are volunteers in each meeting room to assist all WLSC2018 participants. They can be easily identified by wearing the orange vest with conference logo. If you have any difficulties or questions, feel free to reach them directly.

Internet Access

Free Wireless Internet access will be available for WLSC2018 participants in CNCC. Please connect to “CNCC FREE”.

International Calls

Dial 00 + country code + area code + phone number.

Electricity

The electric current in China is 220V. Most hotels have built-in converters in bathrooms for shavers and hair dryers. Please note that a variety of plug types are used in China, and adaptors may be necessary. Two types of sockets are used in China: three-pin socket (a grounding pin and two flat prongs forming a V-shape) and two-pin socket (two flat parallel prongs without grounding).

Insurance

The registration fee does not include insurance. The conference organizers do not accept any liability for personal accidents or loss or damage to the private property of any participants during the conference or indirectly arising from attending the conference. It is advisable that participants should take adequate travel and health insurances before leaving your own countries.

First Aid and Medical Service

The telephone number for the first aid is 120 or 999. Several hospitals in Beijing are staffed with English speaking doctors. 2.5km away from CNCC is the China-Japan Friendship Hospital, where participants may receive first-aid medical treatment if necessary.

Weather

Beijing enjoys a typical continental, yet affable monsoon climate. It has distinctive four seasons, the brief blooming spring, the long hot summer, the golden fruitful autumn and the brisk harsh winter. December in Beijing is sunny and much cooler. The average daily temperature is about 22°C (71.6°F), with the high at around 25°C (77°F) and low at 8°C (46.4°F).

Currency Exchange

Renminbi (RMB) is the only used currency in China. Exchange centers can be found at airports, most hotels and large shopping centers. The exchange rate is due to the official rate (Bank of China). When exchanging money, please keep your receipt by which you can change any remaining RMB back to foreign currency when leaving China. Visa, Master, American Express, Discovery card are accepted in many department stores and hotels. You may withdraw RMB from your debit card at ATM, but it may be difficult to draw cash with credit cards. The Bank of China and most hotels can cash travelers' cheque issued by any foreign bank or financial institution. Participants will need to show a passport and pay a 0.75 percent commission.

Shopping

Most stores are opened during 10:00-21:00 every day. The nearest shopping mall beside CNCC is Xin'ao Shopping Center.

Personal Safety

Make sure to put your passport and valuables in a safe place. Be aware of pickpockets in the crowds. In case of loss of passport, contact the local police and the embassy of your country immediately.

Wangfujing (王府井)

Wangfujing in Beijing is a well-known golden commercial district. Shopping in Wangfujing Street has been listed in many travelers' schedule.

Olympic Green (奥体公园)

China National Convention Center is in the Olympic Village. You can walk to Bird's Nest (National Stadium) and Water Cube.

Temple of Heaven (天坛)

First constructed in 1420, it was the place where the emperors of the Ming and Qing dynasties would worship the god of heaven and pray for good harvest.

The Great Wall of China (长城)

The Great Wall built from Qin Dynasty (~2200 years ago), 8000+km long. 'He who does not reach the Great Wall is not a true man (不到长城非好汉)', as this famous Chinese saying goes, the Great Wall of China, a great engineering marvel, always attracts throngs of adventurous tourists from all over the world.

Forbidden City (故宫)

The former imperial palace which was the home to twenty-four Chinese emperors over 491 years between 1420 and 1911. The Forbidden City is now known as the Palace Museum and is open to visitors. It has 9,999 rooms - a room being the space between four pillars. The well guarded palace is surrounded by a moat 3,800 metres long and 52 metres wide.

Summer Palace (颐和园)

It was a royal palace in later Qing Dynasty, only secondary to the Forbidden City. Summer Palace is actually not just a royal palace where once Princess Dowager Cixi and the emperor lived and handled court affairs, accepted laudations and received foreign diplomats. It also epitomizes classical Chinese architecture, in terms of both garden design and construction. It is the largest royal garden in Beijing.

Congress Venue

Conveniently located in the heart of the Beijing Olympic Green precinct, the China National Convention Center(CNCC) is right next to the Bird's Nest (China National Stadium), the Water Cube (National Aquatics Center) and National Indoor Stadium. The CNCC complex consists of the convention centre and its exhibition halls, the CNCC Grand Hotel and the InterContinental Hotel.

The CNCC is proud of its stunning architectural design. Its front appearance reminds the viewer of traditional Chinese quins, illustrating rich Chinese history and culture, combining tradition and modernity, and forging a bridge to the future. Sitting in the centre of the Olympic commercial circle between Beijing's fourth and fifth ring roads, the CNCC boasts an enviable location.
